

To Hawke's Bay... with Love!

We miss you at our beloved Mangapapa...

It has been over two years now since we parted company, while the world has changed, sitting here in the garden paradise, our heart yearns for your return to our beloved Mangapapa in New Zealand.

Our legacy property surrounded by stunning redwoods, oaks, chestnuts, and magnolias all resplendently taking centre stage in the sculptured gardens.

We love sharing the sight of fantails flitting around the gardens, talking to the tuis and wood pigeons.

We miss sharing the peacefulness and serenity of the gardens with you.

We miss sharing the beauty and energy of the property.

We miss the beautiful Hawke's Bay locals and visitors from further afield.

We long to hear your nostalgic stories and memories of Sir James & Lady Wattie, their Melbourne Cup winning horse "Even Stevens" and of attending one of the many grand parties held at the Homestead.

Mangapapa means fertile land and we miss sharing the flavours of the Bay, the delicious seafood, the subtle savouriness of coastal lamb, the grass-fed aged Angus beef, the sun-kissed peaches, nectarines, apricots, and figs from neighbouring orchards and tasting the beating heart of the vegetables freshly harvested from the market gardens.

We miss sharing the beautiful wines from our Chateau Waimarama vineyard, with the wine maturing in our oak barrels, patiently watching as nature transforms the grapes into something ethereal.

Hawke's Bay you won my heart many years ago and we really miss hosting you.

We miss sharing the early morning sunrise over Te Mata peak and the long pink rays of the sun setting over the land at night.

It's hard to imagine that we are so cosseted at Mangapapa, yet only a short distance from all the wonderful attractions of the Bay, whether its golfing, fishing, e-biking, hiking, diving or simply admiring the beautiful terrain of the region with the rolling hills and the landscape dotted with vineyards and orchards.

Hawke's Bay, you are my Valentine! We are open for business and ready to serve you - we look forward to welcoming you soon,

MANGAPAPA
